Learn about

Airbrush Makeup

Using the traditional way of dabbing up the foundation could really take up a big part of time, while using airbrush machine, makeup artist can achieve a full perfect foundation with blusher in only a short period of time.

Makeup using airbrush can achieve a more High Definition look due to its finest foundation particles sprayed from the airbrush gun, also it will only require a few minutes.

Airbrush machine is often used in photoshoot, where HD look is always suggested. It is also used to complete task quick and on time in a big-scale makeup event with hundreds of clients. While in body art, it can be used to create a smoother color gradient or spray onto a big part of our skin. Airbrush Tattoo is also prevalent as the application only takes seconds and provide excellent effect.

Learn about

Type of Airbrush Foundation/Color Paint

1. Water-Based Foundation/Color Paint

Water-based foundation or cosmetic color paint can be easily washed off. The color usually only last until it is contacted with water or sweat. For artwork with temporary purpose, makeup artists would always suggest water-based cosmetic color paint or foundation so that client can always clean it up whenever they want to remove it.

2. Silicon-Based Foundation/Color Paint

Silicon-based foundation/color paint can last longer than water-based foundation/color paint as it has better water-proof properties. Silicon-based foundation/color paint is always recommended for any purpose of makeup that last no longer than 8 hours, for example photoshoot, dinner, presentation and etc.

3. Alcohol-Based Foundation/Color Paint

Alcohol-based foundation/color paint can not be easily washed off and is water-proof. According to skin type, the artwork can stay for 2 days to even weeks. Makeup artist will suggest alcohol-based foundation/color paint if only if the client would like the artwork to last longer.
